

Electronic Products License Agreement:*ICELAND: NATIONAL CONTRACT*PROQUEST 5000, LITERATURE ONLINE AND LION FOR SCHOOLS*Details of Databases*ProQuest 5000

ProQuest 5000 combines seventeen of the Bell & Howell Information and Learning major databases into a single Web resource. The database consists of over 5,000 key periodicals, journals and newspapers in a variety of fields including Business and Reference, Medicine, Science and Technology, Humanities, the Arts and Social Sciences.

Each of the journals within the database can be accessed via a single easy to use interface and searched across to source relevant abstracts, indexes or full text articles.

ProQuest Sitebuilder

SiteBuilder is Bell & Howell's own additional proprietary linking software to be used by any institution that wishes to link the ProQuest journals and other titles to their institution's web pages. Such links into ProQuest from Licensee's web pages are subject to the same security requirements as the use of the databases.

Literature Online

"A fully searchable library of more than 290,000 works of English and American poetry, drama and prose, plus biographies, bibliographies and key secondary sources"

Literature Online was launched in 1996 to international acclaim from scholars and librarians. It brought together Chadwyck-Healey's full-text databases in English and American literature, previously only available individually on CD-ROM, and enabled users to search them all together, giving easy access to more than 290,000 works of poetry, prose and drama. To these full-text databases it added a dictionary and a master index of websites related to literature in English. Literature Online broke new ground in electronic publishing and set the standard for the delivery of scholarly materials over the Internet. It is now available in hundreds of libraries and academic institutions around the world.

Literature Online for Schools

Literature Online for Schools is a brand new online resource designed for schools to provide a complete teaching and learning package for English language and literature.

Literature Online for Schools groups key curricula texts together with relevant support materials and offers solutions for achieving key skills objectives. Primary texts have been chosen according to the syllabuses set for A and A/S level and the International Baccalaureate and secondary sources have been selected for their direct relevance to school courses and exam specifications, in line with recommendations from our educational advisory board. Alongside set texts, Literature Online for Schools offers a huge range of poetry, prose and drama for wider reading, selection, and comparison. An easy-to-use interface and simple search options enables users to search and navigate with confidence and speed.

Literature Online for Schools is intended as an aid for teachers as well as students and saves valuable time in the preparation of lessons and homework assignments. Materials include primary works of literature; criticism, commentary and course-books; biographies and bibliographies of 1000 authors; contextual materials such as non-fictional prose and newspaper articles; a dictionary and a glossary. With Literature Online for Schools, teachers can access all the relevant materials for a particular module and request students to carry out specific tasks such as comparing different interpretations of texts, finding out about authors' lives and complete writings and grasping the meaning of literary terms, movements and genres. The inclusion of contextual material enables individual research for project work, whilst also developing information retrieval skills.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

If you are the representative of your firm, institution, or organization, all references to "you" in this Agreement refer to the entity that you represent. By accessing or using the product(s) you agree that you and your authorized users are bound by these terms and conditions.

1) License:

- Subject to the terms of this Agreement, Bell & Howell Information and Learning Company ("B&H") hereby grants you a non-exclusive, non-transferable license to have access to and use the on-line, tape or CD-ROM products provided by B&H to you as listed in the attached Fee Schedule, attached invoice or accepted purchase order (the "Products"). You do not acquire any ownership interest or rights in the Products and associated materials and all such rights and interests remain in B&H and its licensors. This License is granted to you at your principal location for the type(s) of access (whether remote or on-site only), number of simultaneous users and the network configuration specified on the Fee Schedule; additional authorized sites or locations must be listed on the Additional Sites/Member Libraries Schedule.
- You will use the Products solely for your own personal or internal use. You will not publish, broadcast or sell any materials retrieved through the Products or use the materials in any manner that will infringe the copyright or other proprietary right of B&H or its licensors. You may print and make copies of materials retrieved through the Products only as permitted in Section 1 (d) of this Agreement. You represent and warrant to B&H that you will not use the Products or any material retrieved from the Products to create products or perform services which compete or interfere with the publications and services of B&H or its licensors.
- Notwithstanding the previous paragraph, if you represent a public library, educational institution, governmental agency or non-profit institution allowing public access to data and information, then, subject to any special restrictions of the copyright owner, you may provide public access to and retrieval of data and information through the Products by or for walk-in public users while on-site. You will limit such use to the customary services provided to patrons and you will not re-distribute the materials retrieved from the Products or provide access to the Products to other libraries or third parties either directly or indirectly, unless specifically authorized by B&H.
- You may create printouts of materials retrieved through the Products via on-line printing, off-line printing, facsimile, or electronic mail. All reproduction and distribution of such printouts, and all downloading and electronic storage of materials retrieved through the Products shall be for your own internal or personal use. Downloading of all or parts of the Products in a systematic or regular manner so as to create a collection of materials comprising all or part of the Products is strictly prohibited whether or not such collection is in electronic or print form. Notwithstanding the above restrictions, this paragraph shall not restrict your use of the materials under the doctrines of "fair use" or "fair dealing" as defined under the laws of the United States or England, respectively.
- Additional restrictions on your use of the materials retrieved through the Products may be set forth on computer screen displays or in a product specific set of terms and conditions attached as an Addendum to this Agreement. Such restrictions shall not materially alter your use of the Products.
- If your subscription allows you to provide remote access to the Products, you will limit access to the Products to Authorized Users (defined below) through the use of user identification numbers and passwords, IP address verification or other secure method of user verification. You will immediately notify B&H if you believe one or more of your secure access method(s) is being misused. If you authorize fee-per-article access to materials outside your subscription bundle, you are responsible for all charges incurred by users accessing the on-line products through your designated secure access method(s). The term "Authorized User" means: (1) For public libraries: library staff, individual residents of a reasonably defined geographic area in addition to walk-in patrons while on-site; (2) For schools and academic institutions: currently enrolled students, faculty and staff in addition to walk-in patrons and visiting scholars while on-site; and (3) For other types of organizations: employees, independent contractors and other temporary workers while performing duties within the scope of their employment or assignment.
- B&H and Licensee agree to work together in good faith to enable access to Products for institutions and private individuals in Iceland, as listed in the Additional Sites/Member Libraries Schedule. B & H and Licensee agree that access for such authorized users, who do not have fixed IP addresses solely for their own use, must be secure, must enable verification of users and must prevent access by users outside Iceland.

- 2) Fees and Payments. You will pay the fees for the Products as shown on the applicable Fee Schedule, attached invoice, or accepted purchase order. If you are obtaining access to Products on a fee-per-article basis, B&H may update and supply revised per-article fees to you from time to time. You will pay the fees for the Products within thirty (30) days of your receipt of the B&H invoice.
- 3) Term and Termination.
  - a) For subscription based Products, this Agreement shall continue until the Expiration Date listed on the Fee Schedule, an attached invoice or an accepted purchase order to this Agreement or, if the subscription is renewed, until the new Expiration Date. In the case of Products for which a one-time license fee is paid for continual or perpetual access to the materials, the license shall terminate only upon your breach of this Agreement. For fee-per-article or other transactional based access, this Agreement will continue until terminated by either party upon at least ten (10) days prior notice to the other. B&H may suspend delivery of Products to you if you fail to comply with your obligations under this Agreement and B&H can pursue any other legal remedy available to it.
  - b) Except for ProQuest® Image Databases (defined below), you may retain the most recent version of the CD-ROMs or tapes supplied to you during your subscription term. You shall destroy all superseded versions of the Products. All use of the CD-ROMs or tapes after subscription expiration is subject to the license granted under this Agreement. If you breach any term of this Agreement, B&H may, in addition to its other legal rights and remedies, terminate the license granted and upon written notice of such termination you shall certify the destruction of all copies of the Product(s) in your possession, including the CD-ROMs or tapes as well as any downloaded copies of the licensed materials or software.
  - c) Notwithstanding clause 7 below, the Licensee has the right to terminate this agreement at 30th June 2001 if the quality and or quantity of full-text journals included in ProQuest shall have substantially reduced during the preceding year. On such termination no further fee will be payable by the Licensee beyond those for the period to the 30th June 2001 and no further access to products shall be provided by B&H.

For CD-ROM Image Databases marketed under the ProQuest® brand, you will download the usage information to the tracking diskette and return the diskette to B&H as requested. Upon expiration or termination of this Agreement, you will return or destroy any ProQuest® Image Databases according to the instructions provided by B&H. You will certify to B&H the return or destruction of ProQuest® Image Databases if requested. If you want to continue to use the ProQuest® image Databases after expiration of this Agreement, you will have to enter into a separate agreement with B&H.
